GIVING SUCCESSION
FOR THE DEED
GIVEN UNDER
LAND DEVELOPMENT
ORDINANCE

Giving succession of a deed.

- ❖ Ownership of the land which carries a deed can be given only to the spouse or children or blood relations.
- ❖ If you wish the land can be appointed among the children within the restrictions, contained in the deed.
- ❖ If necessary, ownership can be given to their own husband or wife.
- ❖ Unless the ownership can be also given to their own blood relation.

In case succession was not nominated...

- ❖ It is your right to decide who should be nominated as your successor.
- ❖ You can nominate anyone whether your wife, child or blood relation as a successor.
- ❖ On the occasion of your death, happened to be prior to the nomination, the final decision will be taken by the land commissioner general.
- ❖ Such occasion if you have both male and female children, preference should be given to the male children.
- ❖ If you have several male children, succession will be given to the eldest son.
- ❖ If you have only girls, succession will be given to the eldest son.
- ❖ If you have only girls, succession will be given to the eldest daughter.
- ❖ Law does not permit to nominate minors as successor.
- ❖ If so you nominate you can just to the children.
- ❖ If so don't forget to nominate the succession of your deed today itself.

How to nominate the succession?

- ❖ It is a trivial matter.
- ❖ No money will be charged for this.
- ❖ Complete three forms L.C.155, obtained from divisional secretary or D.L.C. /A.L.C. (Inter Province) and hand over.
- ❖ That form can be attested by a notary public, Justice of peace, Registrar of land.
- ❖ This could be easily done free of charge from the divisional secretariat.
- ❖ That document will be registered at the land registry and one copy will be handed over to you.
- ❖ Keep that copy safely.
